

Among the most dreaded enemies of the timid little Angora are the jackal, the red lynx and the baboon; the two former kill the kids for their flesh, but the baboon rip open the udders of the ewes in search of milk, and even open the stomachs of the kids for the sake of the curdled milk they may obtain. The first two animals are poisoned and hunted down with dogs where possible and to keep down the baboon shooting parties are frequently organized. By way of encouraging the extinction of these pests the Government pays three shillings a tail for jackals and one shilling a tail for baboons.—Oregon Agriculturist.

WANNAMAKER ON ADVERTISING.

That Gentleman Does Not Believe in Posters, Handbills, &c.

I never in my life used such a thing as a poster or dodger or hand bill. My plan for twenty years has been to buy so much space in a newspaper and fill it up as I wanted. I would not give an advertisement in a newspaper of five hundred circulation for five thousand dodgers or posters. If I wanted to sell cheap jewelry or run a gambling scheme I might use posters; but I would not insult decent reading public with hand bills, etc.

The class of people who read them are too poor to support in mercantile affairs. I deal directly with the publisher. I say to him: "How long will you let me run a column of matter through your paper for $100 or $500?" as the case may be. I let him do the figuring, and if I think he is not trying to take more than his share, I give him the copy. I lay aside the profits on a particular line of goods for advertizing purposes.

At first I laid aside $3,000; last year I laid aside $40,000.

I have done better this year and shall increase the sum as the profits warrant it. I owe success to newspapers, and to them I freely give a certain profit of my yearly business.—The Publishers Guide.

When we hear that some farmer is following a course different from our method, and profiting by it, it is wiser to investigate the other man's methods than to doubt the truth of the report.

Hay wanted on subscription to The Union.

Prospectus.

The Third volume of the UTAH CHURCH AND FARM began with October 1st, and will hereafter be issued on the 1st and 15th of every month as a separate independent journal, by the Church and Farm Company. Its leading features will be:

1st Sermons and discourses of the First Presidency, Apostles and leading Elders of the Church of Jesus Christ of latter-day Saints.

2d. Missionary news from all over the world. To returned Elders, and all who have sons, brothers or friends in the mission field, this feature alone will be worth the subscription price.

3d. An epitome of the best thought and experience in matters pertaining to Agriculture, adapted to local conditions, from the foremost agricultural writers and experimenters of the day. As a handbook of the farm, in suggesting and illustrating better methods in all lines of farm practice, the C. AND F. will make the welfare and advancement of the farmer its chief object.

Its former well-earned popularity will be enhanced by every legitimate means, and the very best in religious and agricultural news and thought will be given its readers.

Issued with a sincere desire to spread abroad religious light and useful knowledge, the publishers confidently bespeak for the CHURCH AND FARM the patronage and support of the people. We believe it to be worthy of that support now, and trust by sincere effort to make each succeeding issue more attractive and useful than the last. Price 50c

WOMEN AND MICE.

The reason why a woman is afraid of a mouse is a profound mystery—indeed, it has never been very clearly proven that she is. But some women are constantly in such a nervous, irritable condition that the slightest thing annoys and startles them. The cause of this unfortunate state of affairs is usually some functional derangement; some distressing or painful irregularity, some derangement or peculiar weakness incident to her sex; or, it may be due to inflammation, ulceration or displacement, of some of the pelvic viscera, or to other organic lesions peculiar to her sex. From whichever cause it may arise, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive remedy, so certain in its curative results that its manufacturers sell it, through druggists, under a guarantee of its giving satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it will be promptly refunded. As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequalled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.
